

BEFORE YOU HIRE A ROOFER

ASK THESE SIX QUESTIONS

A man in a blue t-shirt and jeans is standing on a white, flat roof. He is looking down at a small white box on the roof. In the foreground, there is a black bag and some equipment. The background shows other houses and trees under a sky with large, white clouds.

QUESTION 1

WILL YOU SEE IT FIRST?

A real price starts on the roof.
A number from the sidewalk is a guess.

QUESTION 2

WHO CERTIFIED YOU?

Manufacturers train and approve their installers.
Ask which ones approved them.

QUESTION 3

WHOSE WARRANTY?

Yours, or the manufacturer's? Twenty years from the manufacturer beats a handshake.

QUESTION 4

WHAT IF THE DECK'S ROTTED?

The answer tells you if they've been through it before.

QUESTION 5

WHY THIS SYSTEM?

If the answer never changes,
it isn't an answer.

QUESTION 6

WHO'S ON MY ROOF?

Their crew, or whoever picked up the phone that week?
